BATTLE OF FRANCE IN LAST STAGE

STATE HOUSE BOSTON AUG 21 1944

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 19 (AP)---The battle of the western front is in the last stage of pursuit and annihilation, supreme headquarters announced today.

Neutral Sources Insist

Yanks in Paris

By CHARLES A. SMITH

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 19 (INS)—The battle for France roared toward a climax today with American tanks unofficially reported inside Paris while other United States forces smashed to the Seine river to set the stage for entrapment of the battered German troops which escaped the Falaise pocket.

As neutral quarters told of the entry of U. S. armored columns into the French capital and the treaty-famous suburb of Versailles, Lt. Gen. Patton's Third Army continued its lightning-like sweeps that threatened the German armies in France with utter annihilation.

Allied headquarters remained silent regarding neutral and enemy dispatches which placed many spearheads of the American force in and around the French capital.

The morning communique from Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters announced merely that the net drawn around remnants of 11 Nazi divisions in the Falaise area was drawn tighter, with the American and British troops establishing contact near Briouze.

An Air Force announcement said today Allied planes had destroyed 3800 German vehicles in the last 24 hours as enemy forces fled northward in France. Some 5000 offensive sorties were flown yesterday at a loss of 51 Allied planes.

Allied troops driving into the Falaise pocket from the west advanced to points approximately on a line with the Orne river, while other American columns wheeled to cut the Germans' escape route.

Unconfirmed reports said one American armored column, advancing from Dreux, reached the Seine river at Mantes, 27 miles northwest of Paris, boxing German troops fleeing the Falaise gap into an area bordered on two sides by Allied troops and on the other sides by the bay of the Seine and the river itself.

(To the southeast, according to Geneva dispatches to the London News Chronicle, Americans entered Paris on Friday afternoon while another column reached Versailles, approximately five miles away.

SOUTHERN FRANCE—Plunging on toward Paris, American forces today were reported fighting in the Rambouillet and Etampes sectors . . . while a third column pushed toward Mantes, reaching a point less than 20 miles from the Seine river. The Allied trap on German forces in the Falaise-Argenton area was reported closed at Trun.

Yanks Race for Toulon, Hold 1000 Square Miles

ROME, Aug. 19 (AP)—The American Seventh Army has speared to Lo Roquebrussane, 14 miles north of Toulon, in an inland flanking thrust, and other forces have driven to within six miles of that major French naval base, Allied headquarters announced today.

Still another column drove deeper into the interior of southern France ando ccupied Salernes, 12 miles northwest of Draguignan and well over 30 miles inland from the landing beaches.

The beachhead has been enlarged to more than 1000 square miles, and German resistance remains light, headquarters announced.

A naval announcement said four German motor torpedo boats were sunk during an attempted attack on Allied ships.

An official announcement last night said one of Maj. Gen. Patch's columns speared into the vicinity of Sollies Pont, six miles northeast of the Mediterranean port, while another plunged to the Brignoles area, 20 miles north, in an outflanking drive.

The German garrison sought to step up its resistance by employing the guns of the scuttled French battleship Strasbourg but American medium bombers hit and set fire to the vessel and may have knocked out her weapons.

(The British radio quoted one of its correspondents this morning as saying that Toulon is going to fall soon.

("The Germans hape thrown up a hastily built screen of mobile guns an infantry to give protection to the rest of their men as they pulled out of the city," said the correspondent, Vaughn Thomas. "They are blowing up bridges and mining the roads, but not on a scale big enough to check our advance.")

YANKS CASUALTIES REMOVED—Three teams of litter bearers carry American wounded along a beach in Southern France toward an evacuation station. Known American casualties in the new invasion thus far total fewer than 300. German prisoners were estimated at 7000.

PATTON NAMED MAN-OF-WEEK BY ADMIRING LONDON PRESS

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Britons are hailing a new hero—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., in whom they see embodiment of many qualities frequently attributed to Americans: dash, daring and a rip-roaring drive.

They are applying such terms as "legendary" to the exploits of Patton, whose tankmen are riding roughshod through the Germans into the heart of France. The press continually relates his exploits with tanks, six-shooters and sowrds on and off the battlefield.

The British are familiar with the soldier-slapping incident of Patton's stormy career, but in the words of the London News Chronicle, Gen. Eisenhower's faith in Patton's ability "secured his services for the swiftest outflanking move of any army in history."

The News Chronicle has picked "Son-of-a-Gun General" Patton as ts "man of the week."

The London Evening Standard editorially lauded Patton and his men, commenting:

"There can have been few sights to equal the Americans on that day (their Avranches breakthrough). A never ending armored host was sweeping into France. The same casual young men who lived among us and shared our trials and pleasures were now thundering out the annihilation of an army and the liberation of a country.

"And leading them was a legendary general—Patton of the grim jaw and disconcerting manners."

An editorial page feature in the News Chronicle described him as "Superman" in appearance and possessing a "drive and dash that doesn't count the cost because he believes victory is won more cheaply that way."

New Reds Reach East Prussia

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Aug. 19 (AP)—Three of Hitler's retreating eastern front divisions, possibly 30,000 men, were reported trapped today north of Sandomierz, west bank Vistula bastion which has fallen before the Red Army.

In a desperate attempt to halt an imminent Soviet sweep into East Prussia, the Germans hurled one of their biggest armored blows in months west of the Lithuanian city of Siauliai. They penetrated the Red Army lines, but apparently it was not a serious setback.

East of the Warsaw suburb of Praga the Red Army attacked and improved its positions.

The Russian war bulletin was silent on fighting at the border of East Prussia, but fliers returning from that area reported villages inside the Junker province burning from Nazi-applied torches.

(Moscow broadcasts heard in London said the Russians had reached the East Prussian border at new but unsuspected points. "Fighting on the threshhold of East Prussia grows fiercer every hour but the speed of the Soviet offensive never slackens," one Moscow announcer asserted.)

(Berlin reported the Russians had hurled more than 150,000 men into the battle for East Prussia on an 80-mile front from Augustow in northern Poland to the Niemen River in western Lithuania.)

Patriots Seize Vast Territory

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Patriot groups rising against the Nazis have established control over vast French and Italian areas, reports from Bern said today, while Paris, its liberation approaching, was represented as having the largest resistance force in all of France.

Bern dispatches said some 40,000 well-equipped men were fighting in a single battle in one section of Italy. In French districts near the Swiss frontier, there were probably three times that many.

IN ENGLAND—Isabel S. Sentener, Roxbury girl who joined the Royal Canadian Air Force two years ago, is now manning a signal tower in England. She has nine cousins in the armed forces.

1000 Bombers Plaster Ruhr

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Allied bombers and fighters thundered over the English channel today to strike new blows against the reeling foe in France, following up an attack last night by 1000 RAF heavy bombers on Bremen and Sterkrade-Holton in the Ruhr.

A fleet of Mosquitos in a simultaneous operation dropped block busters on Berlin, while other RAF bombers blasted oil storage depots in Belgium, the rail center of Connantre, 70 miles east of Paris, and flying bomb sites in northern France.

Sterkrade-Holton is ranked as about the sixth largest synthetic oil plant in the Ruhr.

Grieving Gov. Saltonstall To Attend Common Rites

Although grief-stricken over news of the death in action of his Marine sergeant son Peter, Gov. Saltonstall prepared to go through with his scheduled appearance on Boston Common this afternoon when another South Pacific Marine Corps hero, missing in action, will be honored.

The Governor's decision to take part in the ceremonies on Gen. MacArthur Mall at 2 p. m. today, when the Congressional Medal of Honor will be presented to Mrs. Harry A. Hanson in behalf of her son, Lt. Robert M. Hanson, missing ace, was made at his summer home in Dover.

He had gone there directly from the State House to break the sad news of Peter's death to Mrs. Saltonstall and other members of the family.

"I feel deeply sorry for the Governor because I understand," Mrs. Hanson said today, "I realize how awfully difficult it will be for him to appear and to speak at Robert's ceremony this afternoon, but I do hope he will be able to come."

News of teh death of Sgt. Peter Brooks Saltonstall, 23, second son of the Governor, came to his parents five days after they had received a letter from him, dated Aug. 5, reporting he was alive and well in the South Pacific where he had fought the Japs for 15 months.

The Navy Department telegram, which the state's chief executive received at his office, gave no details of the sergeant's death, and Peter's last letter did not disclose his whereabouts.

To Get Son's Honor Medal

The Governor said he did not know where his son was stationed and was anxiously awaiting details. His secretary asserted it was probable Peter was killed while serving with his Marine Corps howitzer battery on Guam, the last island on which the Marines have been reported heavily engaged.

Peter enlisted in the Marines in June, 1942, at the end of his junior yea rat Harvard, and after his boot training at Parris Island, S. C., went into combat in the Southwest Pacific.

At Guadalcanal he witnessed many bomb raids and in the early days of the fighting was subjected to constant shelling by Japanese naval units. He fought through the toughest stretch of the Guadalcanal campaign up until the Marines were relieved by the Army.

His first duty on Guadalcanal much to his dissatisfaction was as a company clerk and after bitter protest on his part he was transferred to the artillery following in the footsteps of his father who served through World War 1 as a lieutenant in the 301st field artillery.

Thousands are expected to attend this afternoon's impressive ceremonies which mark the first time that the nation's highest military medal has been awarded in New England. The presentation in honor of Lt. Hanson, who downed 25 Jap planes before he was reported missing, will be made by Brig. Gen. Lewis G. Merritt, commanding general of the Ninth Marine Air Wing.

The exercises will be preceded by a parade of Marines, and will be attended by high ranking Army and Navy officers, and members of the flier's family.

8 Girl Gang Lures Ordered Arrested

Determined to break up the widespread juvenile crime wave disclosed in the startling confession of three Roxbury boys that they strangled and robbed a Marine veteran of two wars, police today ordered the roundup of eight teen-age girls reported to have been used by rival holdup gangs to lure victims.

Unfolding an amazing story of how these gangs and their girl confederates operated, Acting Capt. John J. Walkins of Back Bay police revealed that warrants have been issued for two girls and orders sent out to all police divisions in the city to round up six others.

All are wanted for questioning in a score or more of vicious assaults and robberies extending over a six-month period. One girl already is in custody as a material witness in the murder of John F. Prunty, 40-year-old discharged marine whose battered and strangled body was found hidden in bushes in the Fenway last Sunday.

Meanwhile the five teen-age Roxbury youngsters charged with Prunty's slaying were reported completely chastened toda by their 24-hour stay in Charles st. jail.

The youthful bandit gang silently accepted oatmeal, toast and coffee but the zest for food was lacking—a marked contrast to the previous dawn at the Back Bay station, where they chanted jive music and hollered loudly for a good big breakfast.

John Donovan

Capt. Walkins

Later today, the quintet were scheduled to talk with defense lawyers and receive a visit from griefstricken and stunned parents and relatives, all of whom still steadfastly believe it just cannot be true.

The five boys, all of whom police say have signed confessions in the robbery-murder of Prunty, are John J. Donovan, 16, of Worthington st.; Francis Mulligan, 15, of Tremont st., Thomas D. Durant, 15, of Alphonsus st.; Francis X. Muller, 15, of Burney st., and Gerald F. Shields, 15, of Tremont st. They will make their next court appearance on Thursday.

Police said more than a score of robberies—many of them unreported—have occured in recent weeks in the area along the bridle path in the Fenway where Prunty met his death. Capt. Walkins said rival gangs lay in wait in this section to rob victims lured to the spot by their girl confederates.

Credit for breaking the brutal murder was given by authorities today to 15-year-old Dorothy "Patsy" Scali of South Worthington st., Roxbury, who faces a delinquent charge in Roxbury Court today along with four youths of another gang charged with beating and robbing a Merchant Marine seaman in the Fenway Aug. 10.

The seaman, Harold Wilder of Utica, N. Y., still is a patient at Marine Hospital, Brighton, as the result of a terrific beating.

Admitting the Wilder attack, the gang was questioned concerning the Prunty murder when Patsy indignantly denied her pals, especially her special boy friend, had anything to do with the crime.

She said she had heard that Buzzy might know about the killing and named a Roxbury Crossing restaurant where he might be found. He turned out to be young Mulligan.

GIRL BEATEN WITH WHIP—Roberta Higgins, 7, of Los Angeles, shows H. J. Daniels of the State Commission for the Protection of Children the welts and bruises she suffered on her neck when her foster father, F. L. Hall, beat her with a rawhide whip. Hall, who pleaded guilty to a beating charge, was fined $300.

Dress Ablaze, Girl Smocker Is Saved

With her clothing ablaze, Miss June Cefail, 16, of Dorchester ave., Dorchester, raced screaming for two blocks along Merlin st., Dorchester, today until a passerby halted her mad dash and beat out the flames.

The young girl told police she had stopped in a doorway to light a cigaretta when her skirt caught fire.

Terrified, she sped down the street while the breeze quickly whipped her clothing into sheets of flame.

She was halted by a man approaching some distance away. He smothered the flames with his suit coat, summoned police and medical aid and disappeared without giving his identity.

At City Hospital, doctors said the girl's burns were serious but that she is expected to recover.

Fires Are Such Public Affairs!

Herbert Jackson, 42, a lodger at a Dover st., South End, rooming house, is no Gypsy Rose Lee and he proved it today to a chanting throng gathered on the street below.

Fleeing in only his underclothes when flames broke out in his room, Jackson soon was illuminated on his fire escape perch by a fire department giant searchlight.

Firemen doused the flames before the embarrassed roomer slipped back into his room. Damage was slight.

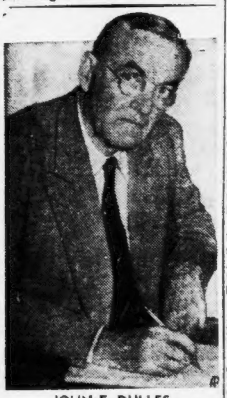
Dewey Warns Labor of Peril

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—In a Labor Day proclamation, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey asserted today that if wartime restrictions on labor were left in the hands of the government after hostilities cease, they could totally end the right of collective bargaining.

The Republican presidential nominee, who was criticized recently by Philip Pearl, American Federation of Labor publicist for declining to furnish the AFL with a special Labor Day message, issued his proclamation 16 days ahead of the holiday. Aides said such advance releases were not uncommon.



JOHN F. DULLES

Declaring there had not been a major strike in New York since Pearl Harbor, Dewey said:

"The fruits of this peace on the home front are being harvested on the plains of Tuscany, Normandy, Brittany and Provence, as well as on the far-flung islands of the Pacific.

"Let us make sure—by not pausing for a moment in our efforts to provide the fighting fronts with all they need and more—that by next Labor Day there will be an end to the wartime restrictions which have been imposed on labor.

"These restrictions, if left in the hands of government, could destroy the institution of a free American labor movement and totally end the right of collective bargaining."

Dewey said that the stirring news of victories on the fighting fronts was cause for pride on the home front as well.

"Without the superb cooperation of workingmen and women here at home it would have been impossible to send out our magnificently equipped armies to attack the enemies of freedom," he declared.

Hull, Dulles to Map United Peace Front

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull and the man who might replace him if Thomas E. Dewey is elected president are expected to meet here in the next few days for a conference on postwar world security organization.

Their session should come soon after representatives of the United States, Russia and Britain begin conferring Monday on the functions of such an organization.

The man who will meet with Hull is 56-year-old John Foster Dulles, the Republican nominee's foreign relations advisor and a veteran of international conferences and foreign affairs since 1907.

His prospective meeting comes at Dewey's suggestion after Hull had said he would be willing to meet Dewey or any one else interested in cooperating on a non-partisan basis. Dewey, in his wire proposing Dulles, gave assurances of bipartisan co-operation.

In replying Hull said he was immensely gratified at these assurances and added:

"I shall be delighted to see Mr. Dulles and to confer with him on any date or dates convenient to him."

In Albany, indications were that Dulles had already prepared to come here.

These evidences of increasing domestic political unity on foreign policy coincided with reports that Russia's delegation to the four-power meetings is due in this week-end with world organization plans which will be very close to those of Britain and the United States.

Urges British Give Us Bermuda, Indies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Sen. McKellar, Tennessee Democrat, who wants the United States to have permanent possession of British and French islands in the Caribbean, says he hasn't forgotten Prime Minister Churchill's pointed statement that he had not been chosen as the King's First Minister to preside over the liquidation of the British Empire.

But McKellar says that Churchill and the British would be making a good bargain if they deeded Bermuda to us, along with the Bahamas and other West Indies islands guarding the approaches to the Panama Canal.

"It would be to the greatest advantage to the British if we took over and fortified those islands," he said. "Look at the map—the direct route from England to Australia is through the Panama Canal. The British ought to be delighted to have us take over the job of permanent protection."

In the case of the Japanese islands, McKellar says: "We are entitled to the murder the rules of war." With the British, he adds, "It would have to be by agreement, of course."

"I'm going to go the limit on this," he vowed. "I believe in it."

Most senators on the Foreign Relations Committee were wary about public comment on McKellar's move, ut there was a disposition to treat it as involving vast complications.

Like Beer Warm? Well, You May!

Does your beer taste different lately?

Well, it will if the critical ice shortage in Boston isn't alleviated shortly. It'll come from tepid taps and taste warm, like it does in London.

Gov. Saltonstall and Richard P. Doherty, state emergency conservator, said it was unpatriotic to use ice to cool beer as long as hospitals and other institutions could not get enough for their needs.

HOLC Cuts Bay State Mortgages by Half

Ask F. D. Explain Youth Program

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Capitol Hill called upon President Roosevelt today to be more specific in his recommendation for a nationwide study of postwar compulsory federal youth training. It reiterated its belief in straight-away compulsory military training after the war.

There was a general feeling on the House side that the President had in mind, when he outlined his views at a news conference, a renewal in some form of the Civilian Conservation Corps, which Congress has liquidated.

The President told reporters he did not have compulsory military training in mind, since the 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 youths who might be available for such training would be given a combination of military and civilian training.

He wished, he said, that the people would study the question because of the tremendous amount of surplus military housing that will exist after the war.

These facilities, the President said, could be used to take care of sick and wounded veterans, to provide vocational training and to provide training of other types, including military.

2 Boys Nabbed IN 20-Cent Holdup

Halted by the timely arrival of police in their attempt to rob two newsboys of their hard-earned profits of 20 cents in Second st., Chelsea, two members of a juvenile gang faced court action today.

John Melinsky, 10, who lives on Walnut st., Chelsea, was delivering his papers with his brother, Michael, tagging along. Suddenly three 12-to-14-year-old boys leaped on them, turned John upside down, scattering the 20 cents on the pavement, and stepped on Michael's fingers when he tried to pick the pennies up.

Sgt. James Martin and Patrolman Harold Cassidy came to the rescue. They saved the 20 cents and collared two assailants, brothers, whose father is in service in the South Pacific.

2000 Deserted Babies Shock Wartime Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (INS)—While social workers sought a wartime answer to the problem of abandoned and neglected children, police today hunted an evicted young couple who turned their boy over to a stranger because they feared sleeping in parks would impair his health.

The boy, Richard Grimm, 10 months, had his first home in a week at St. Vincent's Orphanage. The parents, Harold Grimm, 27, and his wife, Audrey, 23, had slept with the baby in Lincoln Park since they were evicted from their apartment a week ago.

The baby was taken to police by Mrs. Clara Schroeder, who was asked by the mother to keep the child, but did not return for him the next day as she promised.

Mrs. Violet Williams, the Grimms' landlady, tol dpolice Grimm refused to work because of a "fatal illness" and he refused to allow his wife to work.

While the search ensued the United Home-Finging Service reported that 2000 babies and children need foster homes and more are coming in every day.

Neighbors recently have found children chained to their beds, left in telephone booths, neglected at home while their parents, mostly the mothers, escape added family problems in drinking and misbehavior.

Many of the delinquent mothers are wives of servicemen who are sending home allotment checks every month and Domestic Relations Court Judge Victor A. Kula declared: "Cheating by wives is rising rapidly. It is moral sabotage on the home front."

Mystery Death At Beach Probed

Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing and Capt. Michael Sullivan of the Metropolitan Police today launched a dual probe of the mystery death of Howard Delaney, 35, of Springfield, from a brain hemorrhage while vacationing at a Nantasket Beach hotel.

Hotel attaches found the victim near death in his room after hearing his groans.

Medical Examiner William E. Hines of Hingham said the injury could have been caused by a hard blow with a blunt instrument or by a fall.

German Official Sees France Lost

LONDON (AP) — A Berlin broadcast quoted a German war ministry official statement as saying "we must be prepared for a German withdrawal from France."

"We must expect the loss of places with world famous names," the statement said with a scarcely-veiled reference to Paris.

The broadcast, by the German news agency Trans Ocean, was recorded by the Ministry of Information.

The same agency quoted a military spokesman in Berlin as saying "no fresh German divisions can be sent to France."

U-Boat Gunners Show Poor Aim

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 19—Germany's present-day U-boat crews must be suffering from faulty eyesight in the opinion of crew members of the New Bedford scalloper, the Friars, who reported today their 74-foot craft was fired on four times by a German sub recently in the North Atlantic. All four shots missed.

Capt. John Aanensen of New York said the attack came at night when the fishermen, shrouded in a dense fog, were dredging for scallops on a 300-foot shoal.

John Gallant, on watch, saw the U-boat's periscope and then the submarine surfaced and fired four shots at the fishing boat. All missed. Capt. Aanensen ordered his crew to don their lifebelts while he headed the scalloper northward.

The submarine did not appear again and the scalloper went back to the shoal to resume its dredging. Nothing more was seen of the U-boat.

Beating, Robbery Of Woman Probed

Boston and Cambridge police today investigated the reported attack robbery of Mrs. Ruby Taylor of Cambridge st., who told authorities she was knocked unconscious in her room by an assailant who stole her two diamond rings valued at $1800 and a $100 check.

The robbery happened Thursday night, she said, but she didn't regain consciousness until yesterday.

U. S. Again Ships Goods to Turkey

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The United States has removed export bans imposed on Turkey and is facilitating the shipment of civilian goods on a cash basis to the neutral which broke relations with Germany two weeks ago.

Shipment of military items under lend-lease is expected to be resumed shortly, depending on the Allied supply situation as a result of the French campaigns.

The extent of lend-lease accorded Turkey will depend on whether or not that neutral comes into the war. Observers here were inclined to discount the possibility Turkey would become an active belligerent.

Three Boys Admit Church Vandalism

WORCESTER, Aug. 19—Three young boys, two aged 10 and the other 11, were given in custody to their parents today after confessing to three days of rampaging which left Concordia Lutheran Church a shambles.

The young vandals face charges in juvenile court here Monday.

Police quoted the youngesters as saying they just began throwing things around for fun and that "it grew and grew." They added they didn't know what got into them.

This is a summary of the damage, discovered by the pastor, Rev. Theodore W. Brust, on his return from a vacation trip:

Sunday school basement flooded with water from several faucets left running.

Seven boxes of soap powder spread over floor; six boxes hard soap ground into the floor; five pound bag of sugar and five pound bag of flour sprinkled about.

Floor carpeted with 5000 church bulletins.

Glass from five broken bottles of Sacramental wine strewn about; glass from broken light bulbs and broken windows thrown about.

Chemicals from air raid stirrup pumps sprayed in every direction.

Altar candles spread across the floor.

Lectern in lower church splotched with green paint. Walls of platform streaked with fawn colored paint and the words "ha ha" written in letters 18 inches high on walls.

Silver communion service on the floor, chalice in puddle of water, plate on a chair, other vessels rolled into corners.

Bookcase with glass doors smashed.

Two stairways leading from lower church to upper streaked with paint, every tread.

Ballustrades wrecked and clubs made from them for inflicting further damage.

Two pianos covered with black paint; the organ was sprayed with stirrup pumps.

Paint of various colors and words of strange spelling were found on most walls.

The minister's sacristy was a shambles of papers, hymnals, books, and water to ankle depth.

Tools of Gestapo Torture Found in Captured Rennes

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, JUNIOR

Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

FRANCE, Aug. 19—In Rennes we visited a building which, before the city fell to American troops, had been Gestapo headquarters. We saw the leather cat-o-nine-tails and the club that the Germans had used on Frenchmen suspected of being affiliated with resistance groups. We also saw a little Frenchman who had been shot six times through the fleshy parts of his body—through his hands, legs and arms—to try to make him talk.

Today he is assisting our people in identifying members of the Gestapo!

From Rennes we turned up the road towards St. Malo. The Germans cause, it was plain to see, was hopless. They were completely hemmed in with the sea at their backs.

On the way back we stopped at Mont St. Michael for supper. The land all around here is very flat—ideal place for a massive airborne landing.

The Germans, realizing this, have (in the area for miles around) driven trucks and irregularly placed them some 30 or 40 feet apart.

Straight up from this flat expanse rises a huge rock, and on top are beautiful gothic church buildings, dominated by a tall spire at the very center, rising at least 600 feet above the sea below.

Some of the buildings go back to the eighth century, but the abbey, or cathedral, was started in the 13th century.

Around the base, just inside the sea wall ramparts which encircle it, are several dozen little houses, most of them restaurants or souvenir shops.

We climbed the wide stone stairs running through the village, then inside and through the buildings up to the cathedral itself.

There may be more beautiful cathedrals and more beautiful views, but rarely do you find the two so harmoniously combined.

A view of Mont St. Michel from a distance is more striking still. It looks like a Maxfield Parrish drawing of a medieval castle rising atop a lofty mount.

Armistice Seen Soon for Finns

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Sources closely following the Finnish situation said that very intensive secret activity by the Mannerheim government indicated concrete steps toward an armistice with Russia may be in the making perhaps within two weeks.

Speculating on the political activity on the basis of information seeping through Finnish censorship, these contacts reasoned Baron Carl Gustav Mannerheim, Finland's new president, was very busy on a move toward pulling out of the war.

He was reported to have obtained assurances from each cabinet member that each would support Mannerheim's efforts to extricate Finland from the war.

Soldier on Furlough Loses Train Ticket

Pvt. Alvan F. O'Neill of 14 Dana st., Lynn, may not enjoy his furlough unless his train ticket representing a considerable sum of money is returned. The ticket was believed to have been lost somewhere between School st. and the North Station.

Pvt. O'Neill is on furlough from Oklahoma.

Robot Bombings Resumed After Lull

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP)—After a lull of about 20 hours, one of the longest in their two-month-old vengeance campaign, the Germans sent a flock of flying bombs against southern England last night.

Bomb Jap Holdings On 1000-Mile Line

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Aug. 19 (AP)—Allied planes destroyed at least 14 aircraft, cratered airdromes, bombed an oilfield, sank a laden vessel and hit two others in whiplash blows along 1000 miles of Japan's supply-stricken holdings from the Philippines to Timor, headquarters announced today.

Other air blows, projected north to Iwo Jima and east to Truk, were reported at Pearl Harbor by Adm. Nimitz.

Planes in the command area of Gen. MacArthur, maintaining a highly effective aerial blockade, struck in a solid line thus:

PHILIPPINES—Scored three bomb hits on an enemy merchantman in Davao gulf.

HALMAHERA—Sank a supply laden sailing vessel.

DUTCH NEW GUINEA—Hit the Klamano oilfield near Sorong, fired a coastal vessel.

AMBOINA-CERAM: Bombed two airfields, destroyed an unestimated number of parked planes, shot down nine enemy fighters, blew up a flying boat on the water.

BOEROE: Bombed airdromes, destroyed four parked planes.

BANDA SEA: Attacked small shipping—the only type feebly attempting to supply garrisons in the vicinity.

TIMOR: Enemy positions given an aerial machine-gunning by long range fighters.

Nimitz reported no air losses. One of six interceptors was shot down at Truk. MacArthur listed the loss of two fighters.

Japanese remnants holding out on Biak island were confronted with early extinction by troops landed on the west coast from the Allied-controlled eastern half.

Providence Man Feared Drowned

WESTBROOK, Ct., Aug. 19 (AP)—Police today launched an intensive search for George A. Matheson, 40, of Ohio ave., Providence, R. I., following the finding of a rowboat floating in Long Island Sound.

Papers found in the boat bore Matheson's name.

Air's Fastest

A FIGHTER BASE, Britain, Aug. 18 (Delayed) (AP)—The first three Allied pilots to engage the Germans' new rocket-propelled fighter plane—the ME-163 Flying Wing—in close quarter combat expressed belief today that in a vertical dive it made the fastest controlled flight ever achieved by man.

Woman Must Face Trial for Murder

SALINAS, Cal., Aug. 19 (INS)—Trial of Mrs. Frances Andrews, 38-year-old Carmel valley socialite, on a charge she shot to death 19-year-old Jay Lovett, handsome ranchhand, was set by Superior Court Judge H. E. Jorgenson for Sept. 19.

Judge Jorgenson set the trial date after denying an hour-long plea by Mrs. Andrews' attorney, Leo Friedman, that the murder indictment be quashed on the ground of illegal and opinionated evidence.

A motion by Atty. Friedman that the accused woman be released on bail pending trial was taken under advisement by Judge Jorgenson with the announcement he would rule on it at 11 a. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Andrews, wearing a sand-colored sports ensemble, sat with her attorney and her father, S. C. Fertig, wealthy landowner. In the third row of the spectators' seats sat her husband, part-time sculptor, Frank Andrews, newly discharged from the Army to take a job in essential industry.

On the opposite side of the courtroom sat the Lovett family, formerly of Oklahoma, repeatedly darting angry glances at the woman they claim killed Jay.

Mrs. Andrews was under obvious strain only when called before the judge's bench to enter plea after quashing of the indictment was refused.

She moistened her lips and clenched her hands, pressed close to her body, as she pleaded in a low voice "Not guilty."

But her eyes flashed resentments a few minutes later as Dist. Atty. Anthony Brazil opposed her release on bail on the ground her wealth and social prestige did not entitle her to special treatment.

Release on bail of murder defendants is virtually without precedent in California, Brazil contended.

Hall Won't Sign Fight Charges

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Screen Star Jon Hall tossed the question of legal proceedings concerning his predawn fight with Tommy Dorsey back into the lap of Dist. Atty. Fred N. Howser, with his refusal to sign criminal complaints.

Hall's decision to let the matter drop, as far as he is concerned, raised the possibility of grand jury action. Howser declared previously that if Hall failed to sign complaints charging assault with a deadly weapon against three persons involved in the fracas, he would refer the matter to the grand jury.

Dr. Henry M. Swift Dies; Taught at Tufts

CAPE ELIZABETH, Me., Aug. 18 (AP)—Dr. Henry Marshall Swift, 72, neurologist who formerly taught at Tufts Medical School and the Maine Medical School, Bowdoin College, is dead at his home.

A native of Marlboro, Mass., he was graduated from Harvard and from Harvard Medical School in 1900. He interned at Worcester City Hospital and later was assistant physician at the Danvers State Hospital. He served with the Army Medical Corps in World War Army Medical Corps in World War 1.

'Ghost of Guam' Called to Capital

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Chief Radioman George Ray Tweed, USN, whose 31-month game of hide-and-seek with the Japanese on conquered Guam island made him a hero, left Portland by air for Oakland, Cal.

He is to leave immediately from Oakland for Washington, D. C., to report on his experiences to the Navy Department.

Von Gontard, Freed As Dodger, in Army

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (INS)—Acquitted of federal charges of conspiring to evade the draft, the former Baron Gert Hans von Gontard today was in the U. S. Army as a private.

Grandson of the late Adolphus Busch, millionaire St. Louis brewer, and one of his heirs, Von Gontard will be 38 years old in five days.

Meteors Stir Fear of Plant Blast, Robot

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (INS)—That was no Nazi robot—no munitions plant explosion—no falling airplane that created such a furore over Indiana and part of Illinois.

It was only, Miss Maude Bennott, director of the Chicago planetarium, reassured, a couple of stray meteors—possibly hangovers from Tuttle's comet which disintegrated some years ago.

One of the meteors landed near Petersburg, Ind., in the southern part of the state, the other near Logansport in north-central Indiana.

The reports which flooded newspaper offices from all sections of the Hoosier state were typical of those which always follow passage of a large meteor, Miss Bennett said in commenting on the hair-raising reports.

"Something went by the house with a swoosh." "Something just crashed in the neighbor's south 40." "Two airplanes just crashed." And on and on—and on went the reports.

The meteors were seen in all parts of Hoosierdom.

The Petersburg meteor—described as brighter than the sun and followed by a long smoke tail—came to earth with an explosion which shook windows in the town.

The Logansport meteor, second to fall near there recently, was said to have been 20 feet long.

Miss Bennott said the earth has just completed its annual crossing of the path of the Perseids, a collection of meteors.

RAIN ENDS FOREST FIRES

AUGUST, Me., Aug. 19—A score of timberland fires, which in a week destroyed thousands of cords of pulpwood and blackened more than 10,000 acres of woodlands, today were reported under control following heavy rain which in 24 hours ranged from one to three inches.

Boston Water Supply To Aid Dry Dedham

Boston's water supply was made available to residents of Dedham today by order of Mayor Tobin after the Dedham Board of Selectmen appealed for aid, reporting some parts of the town were entirely without water.

The selectmen said the extremely dry weather had so exhausted the town's water that it had created a serious health problem in some sections. They added that the fire department, handicapped by lack of water, would be unable to cope with a serious fire.

Have a "Coke" = Welcome back

. . . or giving a returned soldier a taste of home

To soldiers overseas, Coca-Cola is a reminder of home. To soldiers at home on furlough, "Coke" is part of the old familiar way of living. With frosty bottles of "Coke" on hand, offering a man in uniform a refreshing welcome is an easy matter. Have a "Coke" is always the hospitable thing to say. In many lands overseas, as in your own living room, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a happy symbol of hospitality.

"Coke" = Coca-Cola

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

Small Nations Fear Big Four Conference

Representatives of smaller nations openly share the fears expressed by Gov. Dewey, that power politics will play a leading role in any results achieved at the parley.

Dewey, in general agreement with the goal of obtaining co-operation among all nations to preserve the peace, scotched the charge of any bi-partisanship in his criticism by accepting the invitation of Secretary of State Hull to confer on postwar peace plans.

Dewey designated John Foster Dulles as his representative.

Despite Hull's emphatic denial that power politics will canopy the discussions, government-in-exile diplomatic representatives from the smaller nations point skeptically toward the policies, past and present, of South Russia.

They refer specifically to the Soviet attitude on the proposed world peace body as published in the offical Moscow press which counters the Hull idealistic conception with a plan for permanent policing of global peace by the major powers.

"Instead of the jubliation expressed in administration circles that the Soviet Union has finally consented to attend the conference, it should be demanding that Russia come out in the open and state just what she is after," said Sen. Robert H. Reynolds (DNC), chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee and member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Autumn Here Ahead of Time

Ideal fall weather, with temperatures in the 70s and humidity low enough to make breathing and life itself a pleasure, was today's weather bureau promise to Greater Boston for the weekend.

The bureau disclosed that the storms of Thursday night and early yesterday, which broke the unprecedented seven-day heat wave, brought the equivalent of 9 days' normal rainfall. Although the downpour during the electrical storms caused considerable damage, it benefited crops in many sections of New England and saved thousands of gardens from ruin.

If you reached for a blanket last night instead of a shower curtain, it was because the temperature got down into 60 early this morning for the first time in more than a week. Tonight's lowest temperature will be 63.

Nazis Fear New Attempt on Hitler

LONDON (AP)—The Nazis have put a price of 500,000 marks (about $160,000 pre-war) on the head of Fritz Lindemann for his part in the July 20 attempt on Adolf Hitler's life demonstrating by the size of the reward their fear of a new attempt to overthrow the regime.

Beyond a physical description of the man "wanted," broadcast by the German radio, there was no clue to the identity of Lindemann.

the London Evening News by way of Madrid, said crowds of Parisians are lining the boulevards of the capital, expecting the vanguard of the American Army to roll into the heart of the city at any moment.

(These quarters said the populace is openly singing "Tipperary" and other songs of the last war while waiting to greet their liberators, while the roads leading eastward out of Paris are crowded with collaborationists.)

On the Breton peninsula, the last bit of enemy resistance on the northern coast was overcome, headquarters announced.

In the thrust south, both east and west of Argentan, progress was made "against opposition," and Pierre Fitte was reached.

"Our hold on Trun and the area near Chambois was extended to Champeaux," the bulletin added.

Further north, the advance continued and both the Dives and Vie rivers were crossed.

An estimated 60,000 German troops—besides the vast stream of vehicles—struggled over the roads northeast of Falaise in headlong retreat as they sought to reach Rouen, but Allied guns and planes continued to subject them to an unmerciful shelling and bombing.

The death knell for some 30,000 to 50,000 troops of 11 battered German divisions still caught in the Falaise trap was apparently sounded when Polish troops captured Trun, 10 miles southeast of Falaise.

Plane Plants Begin Layoffs

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's losses in heavy bombers have been so much less than anticipated that production is being cut back gradually and 294,000 workers will be laid off in the aircraft industry by next July, Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Echols said.

Testifying before the Senate National Defense committee on disposal of surplus war property, he said that more than 1,900,000 aircraft workers are now employed, and that "we figure approximately 100,000 will be cut out by the first of the year."

Sen. Ferguson (Republican) of Michigan said the committee heard that 200,000 more men are needed in other phases of war production, and asked Echols why this number could not be released by the aircraft industy to "other employers right now."

"I don't think they could place them properly," Echols replied, adding that "it's a question of shifting manpower."

Jail, Fines for 3 Jap Sisters

DENVER (AP)—One of three Japanese-American sisters convicted of conspiracy to commit treason, Mrs. Tsuruko "Toots" Wallace, 35, was sentenced to two years in the Federal Women's Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va. and fined $1000. Her sisters, Mrs. Florence "Flo" Shivze Otani, 33 and Mrs. Billie Shitara Tanigoshi, 32, were given 20-month terms at Alderson and fined $1000 each by U. S. District Judge J. Foster Symes. Mrs. Wallace was described by Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Ivoe O. Wingren as the leader of a plot by the sisters to help free two German prisoners of war from the Trinidad, Col., internment camp.

Campaign

New Mark Aim In Paper Drive

With curb collections in Wards 1 to 5, Boston will launch its August waste paper salvage campaign Monday in a determined effort to reclaim every possible scrap of paper for the war effort and break the record high mark set last month.

Supplementing the house-to-house canvass by city trucks, Salvage Director George G. Hyland announced that 50 waste paper bin depots, for the exclusive use of storekeepers and business establishments, will be set up early next week in neighborhood shopping districts.

Provided with funds collected from the sale of household waste paper, the bins will be located in convenient spots so that all small stores can make daily paper deposits. On each bin will be placed a special plea from Mayor Tobin, reading:

"Your waste paper is badly needed at the fronts—in France, Italy and the Pacific islands. Will you please help by placing all your waste paper in this bin every day? Your co-operation will help shorten the war and hasten the return of our boys.

"Make arrangements for disposal now and see to it that your waste paper keeps coming."

Curb collections are scheduled today in Marion and Marshfield and tomorrow in Wakefield and Kingston. In addition to Boston, communities holding salvage campaigns Monday include Belmont, Nahant, Provincetown, Revere's Ward 1, and Weston.

Held on Manslaughter Charge in Drowning

BIDDEFORD, Me., Aug. 19—Reynald St. Ours, 29, of Maple st., was locked up in York county jail today after Judge Daniel E. Crowley ordered him held in $10,000 bail for the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in the death of Chester Goldthwaite, 50, of Saco.

Goldthwaite, veteran of World War I, was drowned in the Saco river following a battle on the bridge above.

Household Hint

Housewives may soon replace their worn-out vacuum cleaner and washing machine.

This was the prediction of Henry A. Dinegar of the Office of Civilian Requirements, who told dealers at a Copley Plaza conference such appliances soon would be produced in limited quantities.

Why your gasoline dealer's Ethyl pump may be dry

It has become necessary to limit the supply of premium gasoline to civilians—in spite of the fact that the production of Ethyl fluid has been increased tremendously since the war began. We would like the millions of Ethyl users to understand why this wartime shortage exists, and why it is, in fact, good news.

When you drive up to an Ethyl pump these days the dealer may tell you he has no Ethyl, or that he can let you have only a little.

The reason for this shortage is the simple fact that "More and more Ethyl is going overseas."

Failure of the Luftwaffe to prevent the Allies from bombing practically at will, means our airmen can make more raids; and so use more high-octane gasoline.

Failure of the Japs to stop our Pacific offensives means America has more bases from which to strike; bases that must be supplied with gasoline.

Failure of the Wehrmacht to stand off invasion means that Allied ground forces can send their tanks, trucks, jeeps and other motorized equipment plunging ahead—and this, too, calls for more gasoline.

This is good news! But it means that military demands for high-octane gasoline—practically every drop of which contains Ethyl fluid—have reached an all time high. It means that there is less Ethyl fluid available for civilian use.

To conserve this vital material, the Petroleum Administration for War recently directed that the quantity of premium gasoline be cut in half. The total amount of civilian gasoline was not changed by this order, only the quantity of premium gasoline. In our opinion there is no doubt that this decision was correct.

We feel sure that as long as the needs of war have first claim on Ethyl fluid, you will gladly make the best of whatever gasoline is available.

Two Nurses Find Romance in Army

By HUCK FINNEGAN

INFANTRY UNIT, Northern Ireland—War is a nasty business, but it has its moments—romantic ones. There was the trip to a station hospital—a narrow, one-story wooden structure with Nissen huts giving it a centipedal effect. These huts serve as operating rooms, headquarters and wards.

Therein work a group of New England nurses—everybody's sisters—and the very first two encountered were ready to announce their engagements. They are Claire Elizabeth Morriss, Winter st., Fall River, and Christine Duff, Carver Hill, South Natick.

2 Lt. Morriss' husband-to-be is Lt. Harry E. Stangler of Fargo, S. D. Lt. Morriss has been in the British Isles 20 months, 12 of them in England, and it was there she met Lt. Stangler.

She graduated from Fall River's Durfee High and Union Hospital. She's been in the Army since Aug. 1, 1942. She has a brother

Rose George — Sophie Augunas
Manchester, N. H. — Nashua, N. H.

James, a naval lieutenant aboard a destroyer in the South Pacific.

2 Lt. Duff, blonde and buxom, is engaged to Cpl. Edward W. Brewster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Brewster of Patchogue, L. I. Cpl. Brewster is a medic.

Miss Duff graduated from Natick High in '32, trained at Milford Hospital and did graduate work at Boston Lying In. She's been in uniform since Feb. 20, 1942, and has been overseas 19 months.

"My father was born in County Down," she beamed, "and I've had a wonderful time in Ireland." Living here is a cousin, John E. Bailey, member of Parliament, and she visits him at every opportunity. "I've heard him talk so much of the old mill that I took pictures of it and sent them home. He was thrilled."

Miss Duff's brother, Charles, Jr., is a corporal in the Air Corps.

There were other nurses from New England, and though they didn't have engagements to announce, they were bubbling with stories about the courage of some soldier patients, the goldbricking of others.

There was Lt. Alice Mooney, 76 Grozier rd., Cambridge. Miss Mooney graduated from St. Mary's High, trained at Cambridge Hospital. She's been in the Army two years, overseas 20 months. She works in the operating room.

There was 2 Lt. Laura T. Oliveira, 219 Pitman st., Fall River. She's been with Miss Morriss ever since high school days, training in the same hospital and enlisting on the same day.

While stationed in England she met a school friend, 2 Lt. Joseph Teixeira, a navigator, spent several days at the airfield watching him take off on missions over Germany. "I'd hold my breath until his return," she said, and was stunned to learn two weeks ago that he was reported missing in action.

She has a brother, Joseph, in the South Pacific.

Lt. Clare Pierter, 25 School st., Lisbon Falls, Me., toils in the operating room. She's a graduate of Lisbon Falls High and Simmons College '34, also Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Prior to enlisting, she did Red Cross and Public Health work in Vermont. Her brother Martin, sergeant in the Air Corps, has fought in No. Africa, Sicily and Italy.

2 Lt. Dorothy Burgess, 19 Langdon st., Springfield, trained at St. Francis Hospital, Hartford, and was an industrial nurse at Smith-Wesson, Inc., Springfield.

2 Lt. Marion Donahue, 18 Bellevue ave., Cambridge, is a graduate of C. H. L. S. and Cambridge City Hospital. Her late father was a police captain in Cambridge, and has a building in Harvard sq. named for him. Her twin brother George is a sergeant in the Air Corps in India, has also served in Egypt and Africa. She's been overseas 19 months.

2 Lt. Sophie Augunas, 14 Oak st., Nashua, N. H., graduated from Nashua High and Maryland Gen. Hospital, Baltimore. She spent 17 months in Iceland before coming to Ireland last Jan., and is the only person this rover has met who liked it there. ("We not only acted as nurses, but as Red Cross workers, mothers and sisters. It was fun.")

2 Lt. Rose George, 368 Lake ave., Manchester, N. H., graduated from Manchester Central High and Mass. Memorial Hospital in Boston.

2 Lt. Rosamond Wentworth, 9 Academy st., Arlington, graduated from Newton High and New England Deaconess in Boston.

Alice Mooney — Marion Donahue

2 Lt. Georgette Goggins, 297 West ave., Norwalk, Ct., graduated from Norwalk High with BC's Mickey Connolly, trained at Englewood, N. J., enlisted June 15, '42.

Lt. Anne L. Folan, 39 Prospect ave., Norwood, graduated from Norwood High, St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, worked at St. E.'s and Norwood Hospital before enlisting in August of '42. She acts as chief nurse while Capt. Mary Chisholm of So. Ashburnham is away, as she was on our visit.

There was also Lt. Lillian H. Hussey of Quincy, at the station hospital, but she was sleeping after a hard night's work, and wasn't disturbed.

These girls know what it means to take a bath in a canteen cup, but take it with a smile.

What do they miss from home? Miss Oliveira: "Music. We have no radio. I have just learned the words to 'Paper Doll' and don't know 'Mairzy-Doats' yet." Miss Donahue: "A good baseball game, but mostly strawberry shortcake. I haven't tasted it since I left home. Didn't have any ice cream until two weeks ago."

There are division dances which the nurses may attend when off duty. They've all learned to ride bicycles, and when weather permits, they pedal all over the picturesque countryside.

There are occasional movies, and they were delighted recently when they saw a "new" one—"The Song of Bernadette." But none of them are so enamoured of the job that they plan to make Army nursing a career.

Girl Appeals Term In Jewelry Theft

Appealing a six months jail sentence after being found guilty of larceny by Judge Davis D. Kenniston in municipal court, Dorothy Constantine, 21, of Calais, Me., was held in bail of $2000 today for superior court.

Nathan J. Rittenberg, proprietor of an Albany st. garage, testified the girl took a $500 diamond ring and a $115 wrist watch from a coat pocket in his office after she allowed her to use the telephone. The jewelry was recoverd in a Scollay sq. pawn shop.

Source of Bogus $1 Bills Traced

Secret Service agents today were probing the circulation of large numbers of counterfeit $1 bills in New England. The bills, printed on cheap bond paper, lack any trace of silk threads and bear a poorly reproduced photograph of George Washington.

All of the counterfeits bear the same serial number—K70025356A in the upper right hand corner. First report of their appearance in New England was received by a Norwood chain store from its New York headquarters.

JVA to Get Thrill Of Year Tuesday

Eagerly awaiting their biggest thrill of the season, Junior Victory Army boys and girls are preparing to root their favorites, the Red Sox, to victory over the Cleveland Indians at Fenway Park Tuesday afternoon.

It will be Junior Victory Army Day at Fenway Park, and hundreds of young home front patriots will turn out as guests of the management. It's the annual reward of Owner Tom Yawkey and Manager Eddie Collins for salvage of vital war materials.

This year it comes in the midst of the JVA's Death to Ragweed campaign.

To attend the game free all JVA members must:

Show their insignia pin or membership card. Pay ten cents tax. Enter at Lansdowne st. entrance.

Gates open at 1:30 p. m. and game begins at 3.

Some of the corps will come in groups. These will include the Wildcats of Arlington, the Defense and aviation Corps of Dorchester and the MacArthur Quaker Wing Corps of Revere. The Wildcats will be transported in autos donated by Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Club members.

Along with the JVA will be boys and girls of Boston's playgrounds supervised by City Recreation Director William M. Mullen. They will have special park identification cards.

They will have another treat on Wednesday night, Aug. 23, when the annual circus will be presented on Boston Common. It will be supervised by George Taylor, Director Mullen's aide.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Sunday's Advertiser.

Inspect Bridal Laces

By BETTY ALDEN

JANE ADAMS PATTERSON of Weston has temporarily given up her job of inspecting air coolers for P-38's to inspect bridal laces and trousseau togs.

Her fiance, Lt. (jg) John Adams Paine, Jr., USNR, of West Newton, is expected from his post outside the USA sometime soon and wrote Jane to accomplish as much as possible in the way of wedding preparations even though the exact date is still uncertain.

Jane Patterson

Uncle Sam has already given John his wedding present in the form of a recent promotion from Ensign.

Jane's father, Major Henry Whiteley Patterson, USAAF, is home with his wife and daughter for a leave and if all goes well will be here to give the bride away.

Friends will have no difficulty choosing a monogram to be engraved on wedding gifts for this popular young couple because both have the same initials. And they get a lot of teasing because the initials spell "JAP."

Jane is a Beaver graduate, came out in the fall of '41 at a luncheon before the Harvard-Yale game and belongs to the Junior League. Her fiance, son of Mr. John A. Paine graduated from Harvard in '43 and belongs to Owl, Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770 and Varsity clubs.

SHOP TALK at the Walter Marstons' is apt to concern X-rays, bones and muscles because two of their daughters, Natalie and Mrs. Peter Haven Clark are secretaries to physicians. Mrs. Clark is home for the duration while her husband serves as a pilot in the Air Corps.

Mrs. L. Gould Newell of Brookline is back in her cottage at Wianno which she rented for July to Mr. and Mrs. Heywood Fox.

Post Deb Lillian Warren who studied voice at the Conservatory and was a singing star in the last Vincent show, is rehearsing hit tunes from "Girl Crazy," the musical to be given in Cohasset Town Hall, Aug. 31-Sept. 2, to benefit the Rotary Club servicemens' fund. She's to have a leading role.

THE WEDDING RECEPTION following the marriage of Paulina Longworth and Alexander McCormick Sturm at Emmanuel Church, Manchester, next Saturday, will be held at the home of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Edward L. Bigelow, of Chestnut Hill and Manchester.

Mrs. Bigelow is a cousin of Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, mother of the prospective bride, and daughter of the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

Ask OPA Boost Used Car Prices

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (INS)—The OPA received complaints today that recently-established used auto price ceilings are so low they are drying up dealers' supplies of second hand cars.

Appealing for higher ceilings, a subcommittee of the OPA automotive industry advisory committee declared the number of used cars available to dealers has decreased 15 per cent.

The subcommittees pointed out the public has declined to sell cars in its possession because of the low ceiling prices. Few complaints were heard, however, that a black market in used cars has developed through attempts to circumvent ceiling prices.

"My neighbor on the next street had a telephone installed

Why did he get one before me?"

The above question is often asked of telephone people.

The basis on which new telephones are installed today is that they must be essential to the proper discharge of the user's duties in the armed forces, war work, or public welfare and security. Your neighbor may be in one of these classifications.

Or if he had telephone service before, and moved within his immediate area, he would be entitled to transfer his service.

Nobody will be put ahead of you on the waiting list except for reasons like these.

We Must Face Facts

FOR MONTHS the mounting problem of juvenile delinquency has been ignored by thousands of Boston people.

While wiser and more vigilant persons strove mightily to combat the mounting menace of youthful wrong-doing, a regrettably large portion of the city's population was either too lax or too lazy to be concerned with dire statistics and warnings.

So, today, we have the shocking spectacle of five boys, the oldest of them only sixteen years of age, being charged with the murder of a discharged Marine Corps veteran of the nation's two World Wars.

WILL THE BLIND AND INDOLENT PEOPLE WAKE UP NOW?

OR DO THEY PREFER TO PURSUE THEIR SOMNABULENT COURSE UNTIL WE HAVE EVEN WORSE AND MORE HORRIBLE CRIMES?

We have excellent churches, schools, gymnasiums and numerous other sources of healthful education, recreation and amusement for young people.

Let us use them to the full limit of their capacity for good.

And, above all, let us revive and re-establish the character-building facilities of the old-fashioned home, where respect for law and decency was not only encouraged but made mandatory.

The city-wide campaign against juvenile delinquency needs and must have the support of ALL THE PEOPLE.

Not for a single day can it be allowed to lag, lapse or languish.

With other necessary youthful crime preventatives, let us resurrect and carry forward to its complete and logical development the Junior Police organization so well begun by former Police Commissioner Timilty.

It is highly probable that if the five boys now facing the charge of robbing and killing the unfortunate Marine had had the benefit of summer vacations and other advantages instituted by Mr. Timilty, their present situation might be vastly different and their families spared an abundance of suffering.

Education and Fourth Term

ON THE BASIS OF EDUCATION, who supports and who opposes a fourth term for Franklin D. Roosevelt?

The answer is what might be expected.

Opposition to the fourth term is highest among the best educated voters and is lowest among the least educated; and the ratio of opposition varies upward, or downward, in direct relationship to the voters' education, or lack of it.

These interesting facts have been disclosed by the Presidential survey which Mr. Elmo Roper conducts for "Fortune" magazine.

Following are the statistical results of a poll which has just been taken, showing the "division of opinion" according to the "educational background" of the voters questioned:

	College Education	High School Education	Grade School Education	No Educational Background
ROOSEVELT	42.2%	53.0%	60.0%	62.1%
DEWEY	55.6%	44.2%	32.9%	20.6%

There are other factors than political allegiances and personalities of candidates involved here.

In any community the group having the best education is bound to have collectively and usually individually, the soundest judgment as to men and issues.

Such a group possesses, as part of its education, a better understanding of the nation's institutions and form of government than the lesser educated have been enabled to obtain; its reasoning powers are necessarily more highly developed by training and intellectual exercise; and, because its literacy is greater, it habitually acquires a great knowledge of current events.

If all this were not so, there would be no civic sense in becoming educated at all.

Consequently, the educated group perceives evils and dangers in a portent like the fourth-term candidate which may be totally unapparent to under-educated, or uneducated groups.

And, with respect to the fourth-term project, the "Fortune" survey thus gives a clear indication that the best judgment among our citizenship as a whole is against it.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—Well, I never thought the day would come when Secretary of the Interior Harold LeClair Ickes would give me anything but a pain in the neck. But he has just given me my heartiest laugh in months.

I am prepared to take back everything I ever said about Mr. Ickes—almost. He can't possibly be the curmudgeon I think he is. Unless he had Bugs Baer ghost-write it for him he is one of the great rollicking humorists of our day.

I refer to the Ickian retort to Gerald L. K. Smith, of the America Firsters, who requested that one of the Yellowstone Park buffaloes be named after his party.

Mr. Ickes informed Mr. Smith he was sorry he had to deny himself the pleasure of complying with the request, and added:

"I regret that I cannot see my way clear to have you and one of our loudest-voiced bull buffaloes introduced to each other. I can see that it might be of great public interest as to whether you 'accept the Buffalo officially in behalf of the party' or whether it accepted you, and, if so, where."

This had me swaying in my seat, but Ickes knocked me right on the floor by adding:

"I refuse to concur in the idea that a perfectly decent and well behaved and well brought up Buffalo should, without any option on his part, bear such a stigma as you suggest."

The final Ickes gag doubled me up—and it is doubtful if I'll get straightened out again for weeks. After agreeing with Smith that "we have always been bitter political enemies" Harold observed:

"With the accommodations at St. Elizabeth's Hospital so greatly in demand, I trust this may always be true so far as I am concerned."

That last is extremely subtle because St. Elizabeth's is the local insane asylum.

I tell you that Ickes certainly is a killer-diller.

Now, if he could only get W. C. Fields to teach him how to do a belly-flop over a spitoon!

IT'S MY OPINION that Sen. Albert B. (Happy) Chandler will have to stop waving to people. The practice is liable to get him into all sorts of trouble.

Right from the start, I wish to make it clear that this trouble will not come from waving at dames. Sen. Chandler does not wave at dames, except in platonic greeting. He is a respectable married man.

He is not only a respectable married man; he is a married man who does what he is told. With my own eyes I saw him get lugged out of a cocktail party in Chicago, before he had had a cocktail. Mrs. Chandler does not believe in spoiling Senators.

The Senator's penchant for waving is liable to get him into trouble from an entirely different angle. In fact, it got him into quite a jam recently.

He attended the big annual sale of yearling horses in Lexington, Ky. In his party were Warren Wright, of Calumet Farms, who owns Whirlaway and Twilight Tear; and Arthur Hancock, the big horse-breeder from Bourbon County, Ky.

Sales reached staggering heights. Happy, who keeps me posted on all Blue Grass developments, reports that $2,300,000 changed hands; the average price of a yearling being $6000.

Well, anyway, Happy was down front with the big shots. The bidding was going on apace. Suddenly he spied a friend and waved.

The next instant he was shocked to hear the auctioneer shout:

"Sold to Senator Chandler for $4900!"

Happy leaped up and protested he had not bought a horse.

"You certainly have," retorted the auctioneer. "You raised your hand!"

Happy tried to explain he had only been waving to a friend. He was told he would have to take the horse anyway because the bidding was over.

"That's great," said Happy. "I must call Washington. The Mayflower will be tickled to death to know I am moving a stallion in on it."

Finally, sympathetic friends got Happy out of the deal.

"But," reported the Senator, "I owned a full-blooded race horse for two or three minutes!"

FOR SOME inexplicable reason, my old sidekick, Lt. Col Walter H. (Cappy) Wells has sent me a newspaper clipping from Calcutta, India. Incidentally, Army censorship has ruled that any service man may tell friends he is in Calcutta—if he happens to be in Calcutta.

The Army gives no explanation for this relaxing of rules. Maybe the Calcutta Chamber of Commerce had something to do with it.

Anyway, this is the baffling clipping, datelined "Bawalpindi."

"A report has come from Srinagar (Kashmir) where Amina, a Baloch girl from Baluchistan has thrown a gauntlet to bachelors who want to win her in marriage. Anybody who overpowers her in a wrestling bout will be the lucky person to get the girl."

I would like to remind Cappy that wrestling with a babe is definitely not becoming to a lieutenant colonel. Besides, he has a wife here at home.

BRIEFLY: At first, the United States forces were sent 59,000,000 cigars monthly. But it wasn't enough. This allotment to our fighting men has been increased to 81,000,000 cigars monthly. Didn't I tell you this was a cigar smokers' war? . . . Yesterday, while strolling down the avenue with my girl friend, she was attracted by a silver-blue mink coat in a shop window. I said: "That would look nice on you. Let's find out the price." The price, we found out, was $25,000. "I'll give it to you for a birthday present in 1962," I told my girl friend. And she said: "Remember it's a prom one."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS. Q Please advise without delay the characteristics of strawberry green-eyed blondes. This is important. A—Can offer you no help right now. We are still working on our research as to the character of brown-eyed honey blondes . . . Q—At what age can it be said a woman is an "old maid?" A—Depends on the woman. Being an "old maid" is a state of mind. Too many young women worry too much about this "old maid" business. It is the fear of becoming an old maid that makes many a young woman marry a man she doesn't really love . . . Q—Was "Break the News to Mother" a Civil War or a Spanish-American War song? Be careful, Eddie, your answer will decide a bet. A—The song you mention was written in 1897 by Charles K. Harris. It was about the death of a soldier in a battle of the Civil War. However, Emma Carus sang this song during the Spanish-American War and it was very popular at that time.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 19—A deal is hot on the griddle for 20th Century-Fox to borrow Kathryn Grayson from M-G-M to star in "State Fair," one of their important musicals. If "State Fair" slips your mind, let me remind you it was made years ago with Janet Gaynor and Will Rogers in the top roles. Now it's being converted into a musical by Dick Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II. There's a great chance here for 20th to capitalize on the same hay-foot, straw-foot appeal that has made "Oklahoma!" such a smash.

Kathryn Grayson

It needs a singing gal star with Kathryn's ability. Speaking of Miss G., reminds me I heard two almost amusingly conflicting rumors about her last week. One was she was expecting the stork. The other was she was headed for the divorce court—again.

DESPITE THE draft board's ruling that Alan Ladd is "in" again Sept. 4, Paramount is going ahead with "Salty O'Rourke," his next picture. The studio feels that when Alan's case is thoroughly reviewed, the decision will be reversed on the same grounds that gave him an honorable discharge months ago—his health.

Meanwhile, in case something goes amiss, the movie gets going immediately. Gail Russell is the girl, and that youngster who was so swell in "Going My Way" as the neighborhood toughy, Stanley Clements, plays the jockey. The bosses think Clements is a juvenile Jimmy Cagney.

WELL, WELL, Mike Romanoff will play himself in "Hollywood and Vine," a PRC movie which will have other interesting personages. Among them is Buster Keaton in the role of a deadpan movie director, and Daisy, the famous pooch who is really a "he," but who will play a dog named "Empress."

She was the first woman among the civilians to enter France after the invasion; the Arthur Elrods celebrating their 20th wedding anniversary at Beverly Wilshire. Many film celebrities were invited. Carl Laemmle, Jr., is spending most of his evenings with party-giver, Virginia Hill; M-G-M is closing a deal for the rights of "Skippy," the Jackie Cooper child starring movie. Now it's intended for Jackie Jenkins; Capt. Jack Warner, Jr., is assistant photographic officer under Gen. Omar Bradley in France; Mary Ann Hyde and David Silva, Mexican actor, are expected to elope any edition.

In fact, it was the night of the "Wilson" premiere, and Judy said: "Let's crash the party Elsa Maxwell is giving after the opening at Romanoff's."

Gloria de Haven

"Should we?" asked Gloria de Haven, a little scared.

"Sure," said Judy. "It should be fun."

When they got to Romanoff's, the guests had started to arrive and there was a line of autograph fans watching and cheering the performers as they entered. "Come on," said Judy, "follow me." The Army and the Navy and Gloria did.

The attendant at the door said: "May I have your invitation, please?" Judy fumbled. "I forgot it and left it home." She gave him a nice smile and started to walk past him.

"I'm sorry, miss," said the attendant, "but I have strict orders not to let anyone in without an invitation. If you'll give me your name I'll get word to Miss Maxwell you're here, tell her that you forgot your invitation, and I'm certain everything will be all right."

★ ★ ★

JUDY TURNED and walked away, "Why didn't you tell him who you are and let him send for Elsa Maxwell," said soldier Polan.

"No," said Judy, "I wasn't invited and that would have embarrassed me. Gosh, how many times I've been to Romanoff's, I thought sure the man at the door would know me and we could crash the party. Once we were in it we would be O. K."

Gloria de Haven, soldier Polan and sailor Nearney were a little amazed that no one recognized Judy. The four walked to the curb and joined the crowd of autograph hunters.

Barbara Stanwyck nad Lieut. Robert Taylor walked the path toward Romanoff's. The crowd let out a roar. Judy shouted: "Hello, Barbara." Miss Stanwyck merely returned a courteous hello toward the crowd without bothering to look.

"I guess that's exactly how we act toward the fans," Gloria whispered to Judy.

Then Danny Kaye and Sylvia Fine entered. Judy shouted: "There's my favorite actor. Hello Danny, how are you?" Judy had performed with Danny Kaye at several parties. Danny Kaye gave back with a perfunctory hello as he entered Romanoff's.

Soldier Polan and sailor Nearney were having a great time. "We're out with a couple of very popular actresses," they declared.

George Holland
Boston After Dark

AN EXAMPLE OF THE FLUCTUATING quality of careers in show business will be given Boston when Betty Hutton gets in town Tuesday for a personal appearance visit at the RKO-Boston . . . When Betty was an interesting half of a sister-team comprising herself and Sister Marion; when the Hutton Sisters were singing and dancing at the Ritz Roof in support of Vincent Lopez's band, a romance between Betty and a brilliant new band-leading personality started, was publicized and blossomed right here in Boston.

The band which the young man led was playing at the RKO-Boston, incidentally, and its investment in library exceeded $20,000 . . . It was a very promising unit, indeed, and columnists were predicting that the handsome young maestro was the next new star in his field. THE HUTTON SISTERS of that time were receiving $350 a week for doing their stuff for Mr. Lopez, and Betty was billed as "America's No. 1 Jitterbug" . . . The season was summer of 1939, as we recall . . . Well, five years have slipped by . . . Miss Betty Hutton is the queen of the Paramount lot in Hollywood . . . She established herself as a full-fledged star in "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" . . . And for her personal appearance tour, Miss Hutton is being paid $10,000 weekly . . . And what has happened to the young maestro who, then was the object of Betty's affections, and vice versa?

A NOTE IN A TRADE PAPER the other week announced that he was under induction-deferment for allergic complexes to evade the draft . . . The case was unique because the ex-bandleader had been examined by a draft board and had been classified 4-F . . . Besides, he was 38 years old . . .

UNCLE SAM nevertheless seemed bent on prosecuting, and a tragic other angle of the mess is that the man who had been indicted as an alleged co-conspirator had committed suicide. So, that's the ultimate (up to now) switch in Fortunes . . . The maestro lost a huge sum when a New York nightclub he backed proved a failure . . . A fire cost him his whole expensive library of arrangements . . . Miss Hutton, on the contrary, has enjoyed nothing but the broadest smiles of Dame Fortune.

★ ★ ★

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: One of the Candler girls of Georgia, an heiress to the millions which Asa Candler won out of manufacturing the most popular of the cola drinks, is a junior lieutenant in the WAVES, stationed in Boston . . . Another junior lieutenant of the Navy, a male, created a minor sensation when he took the floor at the Rhumba Casino of the Fox and Hounds and proceeded to sing "I'll Be Seeing You" as expertly as Johnny Johnston or Dick Haymes might have sung it.

THE YOUNG J. G. was professional throughout . . . He reached for the high notes with great ease, and the surprise of his audience when he hit them perfectly resulted in a hush.

But how that young man should form publicity! . . . Some talent-scout should seek him out . . . Boston and the Limelight set ears agog over the latest scuttlebutt between a famous young theatrical producer and the most successful of the chain night club operators . . . The producer owns $13,000 at this sitting . . . Then he took off for California.

★ ★ ★

BRAVES' FANS WILL BE amazed to hear that Manuel Salvo, the former pitcher for Bob Quinn's club, but now a catcher on the Coast, where he is a big favorite . . . Mickey Cochrane is visiting with his mother, George, at George's farm . . . A deal of 200,000 gallons of "bootie" gasoline via the black market stuff is being talked of, engaging the authorities' attention . . . The gasoline allegedly found its way to the tanks of a fleet of cabs . . . Some brands of cigarettes (particularly the brands featuring the longer smokes) are becoming very scarce . . . The Statler's drug store is a typical case, probably . . . Of 20 cartons ordered for the week, one carton only was delivered . . . There is a noticeable run-up in high-class Scotch whisky, too, with brands on sale now that were very scarce this spring . . . The greater the traffic becomes across the Atlantic, the more Scotch America will get . . . Scotch whisky is one of the important cargoes filling empty holds of Lend-Lease ships bound West.

"Let's walk. It's so heavenly out!"

Beauty

Carefully Select Jewels

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

BEAUTY AND ELEGANCE will go hand in hand this fall to present a queenly-demeanored personality in keeping with fashion requisites and the whole host of startling styles soon to be offered. Exit the clinging vine type . . . enter the statuesque, swan-throated beauty to command attention and a second glance as she swishes past . . . and facial perfection will be a necessary prop for the drama . . . a complexion as flawless as that of of Columbia star Carole Landis.

THERE ARE MANY FASHION SURPRISES in store for us gals for fall . . . with elegance in every detail the keynote of the picture . . . and a woman of taste will be as attentive to her jewels as she is to her hat.

Now that the big hat is really here . . . we may look for a return of hat pins . . . a little rubber band just isn't equal to the job. Hair will be worn high as a mooring post for a really crafty hat . . . and it isn't idle chatter to say that back-combs and side-combs in real shell decorated with gold will be part of the over-all fashion scene. They are functional and very handsome . . . and are all a part of the big hat trappings.

There will be a softening of the silhouette . . . with no negligence of government regulations however. Slack waistlines, longer jackets in suits, drop shoulders with width retained by posing frills just below the shoulder point . . . will add difference and detail of feminine accent and softness.

Thanks to the ingenuity and dogged research of American designers . . . there will be a surprising variety of fabrics . . . with wonderful soft wools with lots of little checks in bright colors, stiff satins and damasks, Indian gauzes, metalized jersey, Indian gold-threaded brocades in the lead

Tunic coats, short wrap-around coats, collarless cardigans, artists' smock coats, fur jackets and fur-lined capes will dramatize the fashion parade for one of the most colorful and brilliant style cycles in history.

This is a good time to think about jewels in relation to the fall wardrobe. If your jewels have been carefully selected, be certain that your clothes are right for them. When you buy jewelry let it work for you. Besides being decorative and highly desirable from an aesthetic point of view . . . it should also be functional.

A watch may be hidden in a jeweled flower worn on an evening bracelet . . . clips make brooches the vice versa . . . Some of the new softly draped overblouses fasten at the side with real jeweled pins . . . and necklaces may be trained to hold up the love front of an evening gown by attaching the clip as a pendant . . . which reminds me that pendant earrings are appearing in very smart places and on very nifty ears.

Lime Filling Wins Popular Acclaim

FROM NOW THROUGH SEPTEMBER you'll see plenty of limes in the market. The tang of limes gives a tropical touch to many a dish and drink, but scoreson the nutrition side, too, for they have vitamin C and A and valuable minerals as well.

Big as lemons, Florida limes can be used anywhere you would use a lemon. But one of the nicest ways we know of using limes, and one of the most popular, is this lime filling. You can keep it for several days in the refrigerator to use as you choose.

MIRACLE LIME FILLING

3 eggs 1 cup of sugar
1-3 cup lime juice
1 tsp finely grated lime rind

Beat eggs well with rotary beater until light and fluffy. Add sugar, lime juice and lime rind. Cook in top of double boiler over hot water, stirring constantly until thick or about 5 to 10 minutes. Chill. Use to fill cake layers or tart shells. Makes about 1 cup filling or enough to fill a 9-inch layer cake or 4 to 6 tart shells.

Other suggestions for making your meals lime-happy follow:

LIME SPONGE PUDDING

¼ cup sugar 2 tbsp. flour
½ tsp. salt 1 cup milk
2 eggs, separated
1 tbsp lime juice
1 tsp. grated lime rind

Mix sugar, flour and salt. Beat egg yolks slightly; add with milk. Add lime juice and rind. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Pour into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water; bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 45 minutes. Chill. Serves 4.

FLUFFY LIME TOPPING

1 tbsp. flour 3 tbsp. sugar
Few grains salt
1 egg separated
½ cup lime juice

Mix flour, sugar and salt. Beat egg yolk; add. Add lime juice. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thick. Cover; cook 10 minues. Chill. Beat egg white; fold in. Serve immediately. Serve on pudding, gingerbread, cake cottage pudding, etc. Makes 1 cup.

FRUITED LIME GELATIN

1 envelope (1 tbsp.) plain unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups hot water
½ cup sugar
Few grains salt
¼ cup lime juice
1 cup diced cubed fruit
Plain cream or custard sauce

Other suggestions for making your meals lime-happy follow:

Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in hot water. Add sugar and salt; dissolve. Add lime juice. Chill until syrupy. Fold in 1 cup diced cubed fruit (berries, peaches, melon, cherries or mixture of fruits). Pour into molds. Chill until fin. Serve with cream or custrd sauce. Makes 4 servings.

LIMEAID

3 cups water ¼ cup sugar
Peel of 2 limes
1½ cups lime juice Lime slices

Combine wat, sugar and lime peel. Bng to boil; boil slowly 5 mintes. Cool; remove lime pl. Combine with lime juice. Pour over ice in tall glasses serve with lime slices. Mas 6 servings.

Fashion

BG HATS AND LOVELY JEWELS are twin leaders in the fall fashion parade . . . and this Helene Garnell hat is a shallow black velvet bowl tilted with colorful swirls of ostrich and a single fuchsia blossom . . . all part of the big hat accent. Sparkling diamond accessories . . . as ear clips and as twin peacock diamond dress clips . . . bespeak a regal demeanored lady for the coming season.—R. M.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Friday—At last the men of the French army and navy who have been preparing themselves in Africa are able to fight for the liberation of their own soil.

It must be the greatest satisfaction, for these men, who escaped from France and joined with the French leaders in England and Africa, for they have been anxiously waiting for this day. Some have fought in Italy; now they are home again, and one of the most touching pictures I have seen recently is that of a French soldier greeting his wife on the steps of his home in a reconquered town

* * *

NONE OF US in this country can possibly imagine what people have suffered who left their families for a long period of time in a war-torn country.

They dreaded what might happen to the women, but even more terrifying must have been the thought that their children, whom they left at a tender age, might grow up and be inculcated with all the hated doctrines which they themselves were fighting against.

In the case of all the conquered European peoples, they knew that as the boys and girls came to working age they would be forced into some kind of labor probably in Germany.

* * *

FROM THE ADVANCES that are being made in both Northern and Southern France, in Italy and on the Russian front, it would seem utterly impossible for the Germans not to see the handwriting on the wall. It is therefore hard to understand why they continue sending robot bombs into England.

One British comment which I read said they were the message of despair. They seem to me not a message of despair, but rather a message to insure the hardening of all hearts against them.

* * *

IN TRAVELING down along the Hudson River the other day, just after a thunder storm, the sun came out of the clouds and began to disappear behind the Catskill Mountains. The path of gold upon the river stretched straight across from bank to bank, and the clouds were tinged with soft colors.

God has given us such beautiful countries. The number of places in different parts of the world where I have enjoyed that beauty comes to mind with each such moment as this Hudson River sunset.

I could almost wish that God had not given weak human beings quite so much freedom, for we make of His beautiful world such a sorry place at times. I suppose we must trust to education to bring us finally to a wiser use of our freedom.

Styles for Girls

By BETTINA BEDWELL

DANCE dresses with long skirts, and made of dramatic striped surah or taffeta, are very important items in the styles for girls and younger women this fall. They are certainly very noticeable in a crowd, but they are not loud, because they come in either soft pastel colors or in neutrals, like gray with black, greige with brown, and so forth.

Claire McCardle has done one of the grandest of these dresses, and it is sketched. It comes in brown and greige surah, and the gathered skirt is separated from the backless, perplumed blouse, so you can wear the skirt with other blouses when you feel like it.

Claire makes simple striped shirtwaists of the same surah to wear that way, too.

What Do You Say?

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

To settle a discussion will you please answer this question: Is it proper to say "I will carry this purse" or "I will wear this purse"? M. E. G.

"I will carry this purse" is what we usually say. But it is also proper to say "I will wear this purse"

BE TACTFUL!—The bride of a young officer should avoid a "chip-on-shoulder" attitude toward the wives of other (senior or older) officers. Even the girl who was a social leader in her home town may be able to learn something from the spouse of her husband's commanding officer.

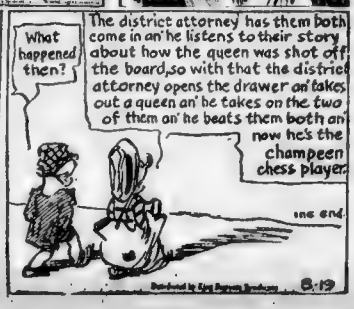
I got a pass signed by the head police commonishioner an' the district attorney, so I can go in an out whenever I want to, only I gotta ring 3 times an' sing over there. That's the pass word.
So you were let in?

Yes, we were shut off from the outside world by that sign, when somehow or other two men playin chess still had the chess board between them when the district attorney listens to the argument between the champeen an' the contender.



What happened then?
The district attorney has them both come in an' he listens to their story about how the queen was shot off the board, so with that the district attorney opens the drawer an' takes out a queen an' he takes on the two of them an' he beats them both an' now he's the champeen chess player.

Parley Called in Bath Yard Strike

BATH, Me., Aug. 19—Company officials and union spokesmen met here today to halt spread of a walkout of 150 welders at the Bath Iron Works Corp., in a protest move against a recent transfer of men from the midnight-7:30 a. m. shift to the 4 p. m.-midnight shift.

Harold Chadbourne, president of the Independent Brotherhood of shipyards workers, Inc., bargaining agency for the yard's workers, asserted the walkout was not authorized by the union.

John M. Conly, Jr., personnel manager for the company, denied the claim made by a representative of the welders that the transfer was made without consent of the workers and without regard to seniority rights.

QUINCY FIRM GETS JOB

The M. De Matteo Construction Co. of Quincy was the successful bidder at $339,370.90 for asphalt paving work at the Cumberland, Md., Municipal Airport, it was announced by the Civilian Aeronautics Administration.

In the Armed Forces

Chaplain Neil F. O'Connor, former assistant pastor of St. Margaret's Church, Lowell, has been promoted to captain at Scott Field, Ill., AAFTC radio school. He is the son of Mrs. Catherine A. O'Connor of Norton st., Dorchester, and was assistant pastor at Immaculate Conception Church, East Weymouth, before moving to Lowell.

Pvt. Paul G. Keefe, son of Mrs. Ruth A. Keefe of Washington st., Dorchester, and Cpl. Albert Spadorcia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Spadorcia of Main st., Quincy, have been presented the Bronze Star in recognition of their service in the Marshall Islands occupation.

Jacob H. Kaplan, son of Mrs. Nellie Kaplan of Chelsea st., East Boston, has been promoted to first lieutenant with the 7th AAF in the Central Pacific.

James F. Murphey of Clayton ave., Medford, on duty at Camp Lee, Va., was recently promoted from private to corporal.

V. F. W. Delegates Leave Tomorrow

Massachusetts delegates to the 45th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Chicago will leave tomorrow from South Station.

Three are candidates for national office. Francis X. Cotter of Dorchester seeks the post of junior vice commander-in-chief; William A. Resnick of Boston, reelection as inspector-general, and Gertrude L. Macdonald, national conductress.

Tabor to Enter Army With Top 1944 Record

By JACK CONWAY

WHEN JIM TABOR leaves the Red Sox to enter service, he should gain great satisfaction in the thought he has had one of the best seasons of his career and that at no time did he make any effort to avoid induction into military service.

Tabor gave up a job in a war plant so that he could play for the Red Sox this year. If he had wished, he could have remained in his defense berth and have secured draft deferment as some ball players did.

Jim Tabor

"I am a ball player" said Tabor when he gave up his job in the war plant, "and I believe I should follow my regular profession until such time as Uncle Sam calls me for service."

Tabor also felt that as a ball player he would be able to earn more money, and that he could leave his wife and baby in a better financial position when he entered the Army. Ball players who quit the diamond for draft deferred defense jobs will always have to do a great deal of explaining.

I saw Tabor drive his mighty home run over the left field screen at Fenway Park on Thursday. He got tremendous power behind his belt.

Tabor has played aggressive ball in the field. At the bat he has had one of his best years.

Tabor is one of the most perfect physical specimens in baseball. If he had gone in for boxing when he was in his upper 'teens, he might have become heavyweight champion of the world. Tabor has now passed the age when it would be possible for him to become a good boxer.

It is likely that the Sox will have the benefit of Tabor's services for most of the season. He will have 21 days of leave once he is inducted into service. It is possible Jim may not receive his Army call until the early part of September. The 21-day leave would then almost carry him through the season.

Tabor will be thankful he has had the opportunity to play so much baseball this year. Like other ball players as well as the other millions of persons in service, the Sox third sacker will root for a quick ending of the war with victory so that he can return to his normal pursuits.

Wonderland's Decisions

WONDERLAND PARK had another opportunity to prove it possesses good management when the cloudburst which cracked the heat wave put its mutuel plant temporarily out of operation. The Revere track immediately decided not to charge any admission, and to put the races on as quickly as possible.

It was not until it was time for the sixth race that everything was in readiness. Five races were then run off with 10,000 persons in attendance. The plant was operating perfectly when racing was resumed.

One of the reasons why dog racing has continued to gain in popularity in Massachusetts is because it has had good management. The persons in charge of Wonderland Park and the other dog tracks have felt that if they treated the public fairly that they would succeed.

Increased attendance figure and soaring mutuel handles would seem to justify this policy. Wonderland has been having the biggest year of its history. Mutuel handles of more than $400,000 a night with attendances of from 12,000 to 14,000 have been common.

Random Shots at Target

WITH COOLER weather, it is expected that the mutuel handle at Narragansett Park will move to around the $1,000,000 mark this afternoon . . . The heat wave cut into the attendance and the handle at Narragansett during the past week.

Latest figures show that the charity weeks at Suffolk Downs netted almost $248,000 . . . President Gordon B. Hanlon is expected to announce the division of this fund next week . . . The Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser will receive part of the money raised during charity week.

Yanks Like Joe Crowley at End

Making his initial appearance at Dean Academy yesterday, Joe Crowley, brilliant Dartmouth end who wound up his grid career there two years ago, immediately was outfitted and took part in the Yanks' afternoon drill. The 190-pound wingman who hails from Minot, Mass., appeared to be in great shape and stands an excellent chance of making the grade.

Crowley's addition to the squad somewhat offset a bit of tough luck which cropped up Wednesday night when Karl Chulig was rushed to the hospital with an appendix attack and was operated upon at the Milford Hospital early yesterday morning. Chulig is a 205-pound center who hails from Monessen, Pa., and who played at the University of Georgia for one season.

After the morning session yesterday, Herb Kopf announced that three players had been released—the first step in his pruning to bring the squad down to the league requirement of 28 players.

The squad went through a double workout again yesterday. The morning session was cut short by rain and continued indoors with a blackboard talk while the P. M. affair was a long two-hour drill on plays, passing, kicking, and wound up with a dummy scrimmage.

Brockton Loses Legion Chance

BROCKTON, Aug. 19—The Baltimore American Legion Juniors won the first game of the eastern semi-finals for the National Legion Junior Championship when they defeated the local post team 3 to 2.

Les Moler of the visitors gave up only six hits in annexing his 16th win of the season. The game was marked with errors with the home team contributing five and the visitors four.

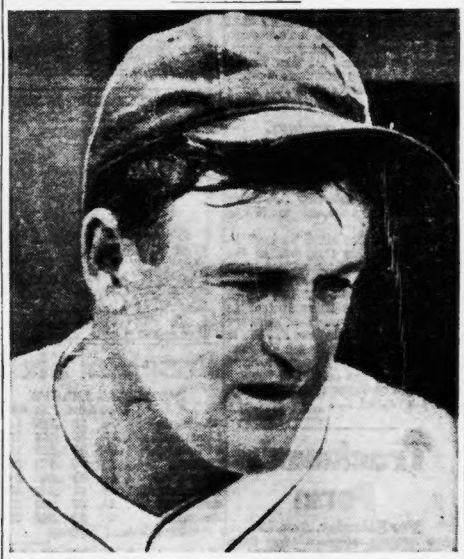
Storm; Now 15 Minutes' Time Helps Lick Red Sox

By BILL GRIMES

"Yes, sir, I'm perfectly satisfied with the performance Emmett O'Neill gave yesterday," declared Manager Joe Cronin. "I hope that Joe Bowman does as well this afternoon. If he does, he'll protect our lien on second place.



THE DEEP THINKER REFLECTS—Manager Joe Cronin might ask, "Whence are we bound?" and New England baseball fans might join him as they gaze upon the league standings and note the seven-game lead the St. Louis Browns enjoy. Joe, the aspirin bottle is at your right.

"I'm not trying to offer an alibi for young O'Neill," continued the "Skipper," "but I believe his defeat was due to the fact that the first game was not started until 1:45, instead of 1:30. 'Em' wasn't warmed up. He's got too much stuff for the Tigers to jump him as they did in the first inning. He gave up three hits in that frame and then scattered three more over the next eight.

"I hope O'Neill continues to pitch as well as he did yesterday. If he does he won't suffer many setbacks.

"And while we are on the subject of good pitching how about Mike Ryba's relief hurling in the second game? He did a swell job and the more I think about it the more remarkable it seems.

"As you know the Tigers moved into second place when Hal Newhouser shut us out to win his 20th game of the campaign. The pennant bug is buzzing in their hats. They don't say much about it but they are definitely pennant minded. They are trying to take the pressure off by talking about the barnstorming trips they're going on at the close of the regular season. But that's a bruise off.

"They went to work on Clem Hausmann with a vengeance. At the end of four innings they had us 4 to 2, having nicked Clem for eight hits. Their tails were high and they were bubbling over with confidence. Well Old Mike made them lower teir tails and had them between ther hind legs before the game was over.

"It requires great courage for a pitcher to stop any club under the same circumstances that Ryba entered yesterday's game. True, we were hitting Gorcisa, but we weren't getting any runs. Metkovich homered in the first inning but our second tally was a gift.

Manager Steve O'Neill will use "Stubby" Overmire, his southpaw, this afternoon. Overmire was to have opened against the Yankees tomorrow in New York but the 3-3 tie game on Thursday forced the Detroit manager to change his plans.

The Red Sox will play the Cleveland Indians a double-header starting at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Grand Service Show Open to the Public

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Unpredictable thousands will be storming the Carson beach-head, South Boston, tomorrow afternoon when the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser and the Boston Park Department will send over 200 competitors to the starting line in its championship swimming meet to be held in conjunction with the Mass. Youth Committee.

As added features, there'll be five events turned over entirely to graduates of the Learn to Swim program in New England's greatest water carnival.

There will be no admission price to this gala show with the first arrivals slated for the best of the free standing space on the beach. And they'll have their fill of championship competition with four New England A.A.A.U. crowns to be settled and another dozen open events to satisfy their appetites in the most invigorating of all sports.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin will be on hand to present his trophy to the winner of the half-mile event for women.

WATCH DOROTHY KENDRICK

Heading the list of potential titlists, will be Dorothy Kendrick of the Metropolitan Swimming Club who has her heart set on taking home the championship medal as well as the Tobin trophy by a winning effort in the NEAAAU senior 880-yard freestyle race. This Wellesley miss captured the Mass. State 440-yard crown last week at Winchester in a startling time that even bettered the men's efforts for this same distance.

Her competition will be centered in Louise Sherlock, New England junior backstroke champion, and Barbara Milliken of Olneyville; Marion Senior of Wanskuck, Catherine Sullivan of Winthrop and Ruth Pryor of Pawtucket.

Carolyn Curley, Boston Swimming Association, and Miss Sherlock will be dominating the NEAAAU senior 100-meter breast stroke championship while the field in the NEAAAU junior 50-meter freestyle will be a wide open affair with Althea Mercer, Fall River, Ruth Ryan, Everett, Etta Franklin, Shirley Hall and Dorthy Blanchflower of Olneyville, Barbara Donaghey, Rose McGowan and Edith Dover of Winchester, and Stella Tempke of Wanskuck in the running.

NEAAAU competition for men will list the 100-meters backstroke.

The American Legion Post 44 of Roxbury will send its band.

Newhouser Shows Way With 20 Wins

Emmett O'Neill paid the penalty for delaying the start of the first game of yesterday's twin bill . . . He wasn't warmed up and the Tigers jumped him for two runs by sandwiching a Jimmy Outlaw three-bagger between doubles by "Doc" Cramer and Rudy York . . . The Red Sox have had trouble with Jimmy Outlaw in this series . . . The little outfielder has been plenty good in the "clutches."

The drainage system is excellent at Fenway Park . . . Despite the heavy rain on Thursday and yesterday morning, the infield was as dry as a bone.

But for the wind, York's drive in the first inning would have landed in the screen instead of crashing into the wall for a two-bagger . . . Mgr. Steve O'Neill planned to pitch "Stubby" Overmire tomorrow against the Yankees . . . But Thursday's draw forced him to change his plans and use Overmire this afternoon.

The Tigers have breezed through the Yankees this season, taking ten out of fifteen . . . "Skeeter" Newsome made a nice stop of Rudy York's hard hit grounder in the fifth and helped O'Neill pull himself out of a jam, for Eddie Mayo opened that round with a two bagger.

A'S PITCHERS ARE TOPS

The Tigers rated Connie Mack's pitching staff as the best in the league . . . It was Ladies' Day but the girls didn't have an opportunity to scream until the 6th, when the Red Sox filled the bases with one down . . . Then they moaned when the Croninmen failed to score.

Hal Newhouser called time while pitching to George Metkovich in the 7th . . . He had slipped off the rubber on the previous pitch and thought he had snapped something in his shoulder . . . But he fanned "Catso" on the next ball . . . Then Trout raced down to the Detroit bull pen and began warming up at the close of that inning . . . York is getting to be a "Fancy Dan" around first base.

Newhouser is the only pitcher in either major league who can boast of winning 20 games . . . He turned in one of his best performances yesterday while shutting out the Red Sox, 3 to 0 . . . But he was most ably assisted by the veteran Paul Richards . . . We'd say Richards caught a perfect game . . . He had Newhouser showing up and his strategy had batter after batter off stride.

The Tigers look to be the only club in the league with a chance of overtaking the Browns . . . However, there's a soft spot in the Detroit infield — shortstop — that may prevent them from reaching their objective.

On the play in the second inning that Bob Swift was thrown out at the plate trying to score on Joe Orengo's two-bagger, Lou Finney threw to second base but Bobby Doerr relayed the throw to Hal Wagner in plenty of time to get the Tiger catcher.

George Metkovich connected with his sixth homer of the year in the first frame . . . The ball landed in the bleachers behind the Red Sox bull pen . . . It was very well stroked.

LOU FINNEY IN ACTION

Finney returned to the lineup in the second game, relieving Bob Johnson . . . It had been so long since he had played left field at Fenway Park that Lou had forgotten about that tricky carom off the wall.

Leon Culberson got a broken bat single off Johnny Gorsica in the third, after Clem Hausmann had walked, setting the stage for the Red Sox to break the 1 to 1 tie . . . With two down, Hausmann scored when Joe Orengo threw into the dirt trying to get Pete Fox . . . York almost got the ball but he was obliged to juggle it and Peter was declared safe.

Although the weather was threatening when the first game started, the total attendance was 3901 . . . "Doc" Cramer is developing into a power hitter . . . He came up with a two run triple in the 4th that put the Tigers two runs out in front.

Jim Tabor swings so hard that invariably he grunts loud enough to be heard in the press coop, when he misses . . . The Tigers didn't have any trouble fathoming Clem Hausmann's stuff . . . They reached him for eight hits in four innings . . .

PRIMA DONNA ROMMEL

The Red Sox filled the bases on three singles after Tabor fanned in the 6th but Bob Johnson, pinch hitting for Hausmann, hit into a fast double play . . . Then Mike Ryba returned to active service . . .

Mike Higgins hit a "sinker" to Finney for the final out in the 5th and the ball almost got away from the pride of Albany, Ala. . . .

Bob Swift made a perfect day at bat until Mike Ryba started to work on him . . . "Doc" Cramer will have his little joke . . . While waiting in the circle for his time at bat in the 6th, "Doc" recovered a foul ball and shot it to Umpire Rommel at better than an average rate of speed . . .

Park League Tilt Ends in Argument

The Casey Club of Dorchester was awarded the first game in the Park League finals last night at Dorchester Town Field when the Linehan Club of South Boston, challenger for the league title, walked off the field after protesting an umpire's decision. The Casey's were leading 4-3 in 4½ innings.

Two of the South Boston players were banished for jostling the ump and when they were put out of the game the rest of the team walked off in protest.

Real Punchers in Springfield Bouts

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 19—Joe Carter, of Rome, N. Y., and Cannonball Joe Reddick, of Paterson, N. J., are expected to engage in a real punching duel in the feature boxing bout at the West Side Dog track Monday night.

Both are willing mixers and their records are sprinkled with kayo victories. In the six-round semi-final Al Gauthier of Springfield meets Al Whelton of Montreal.

Alex Santilli Killed in War

The City of Everett which has contributed so many of its sons to the armed services today mourns the passing of one of its most notable natives, Lt. Alex Santilli who was killed on July 8 by a Japanese sniper while leading a charge in the bloody fighting on Saipan.

Big Alex, star in Fordham's 1942 Sugar Bowl victory over Missouri, wasn't due for action on that particular day because of shell-shock but with that flaming fighting spirit which had carried him to such great heights at Everett High under Coach Dinnie Gildea and later under Jim Crowley at Fordham he insisted rejoining his outfit and getting into action, which was one of the bloodiest of the current war.

Lt. Santilli's great day in athletics occurred on Jan. 1, 1942 in the Sugar Bowl game, in New Orleans when he blocked a punt that was converted into an automatic safety, the one play that gave Fordham the 2 to 0 win over Missouri.

Lt. Alex Santilli gave his all, in high school and college football and in his country's service. Everett certainly does mourn the loss of this grand young man.

Devil Diver Is Stake Favorite

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—The 1944 edition of who's who in handicap racing will be reviewed at Belmont Park today in the $50,000 Saratoga Handicap in which Devil Diver and First Fiddle meet for the first time.

Devil Diver, ace of the veteran runners in the stalls of Mrs. Payne Whitney, is the early betting favorite although he must carry 135 over the mile and a quarter route.

The Fiddle, owned by Mrs. Ed Mulrenan, is loaded with 128 pounds and their heavy imposts have turned some of the bettors to Alex Barth, in with only 115 pounds, and to Princequillo, marathon kin of a year ago, who will tote 124.

The Diver has won five straight races this year, although out part of the early summer with a leg injury, and triumphed in a seven furlong affair last Tuesday while laden with 136 pounds.

Eddie Arcaro will ride the favorite while Johnny Longden is booked for the trip aboard First Fiddle. Georgie (The Iceman) Woolf will pilot Princequillo, owned by the Boone Hall Stables. Alex Barth's rider still is to be selected.

Clara Lamore Grabs Second in Big Test

KANSAS CITY (AP)—In a rousing finish, Ann Curtis, blonde sensation from San Francisco, Cal., upset Brenda Hesler, defending titlist in the 100-meter freestyle race opening the AAU national swimming championships last night.

Nancy Merkl, Multnomah Club, Portland, Ore., won the heat in the 300-meter individual medley after staving off a challenge from Clara Lamore, Olneyville Club, Providence, R. I., on the last lap.

Like Yanks, Crowds In N. Y. Quit on Bouts

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—It was a teen age party Promoter Mike Jacobs put on for the fistic fraternity at Madison Square Garden last night and even the crowd was tiny.

Only 5847 paying spectators were in the arena to see 18-year-old Aaron Perry of Washington, take a beating from Jimmy McDaniels of Los Angeles, before Referee Billy Cavanagh halted the bout in the third minute of the fourth round. Each fighter weighed 143½.

TRIO OF CARSON BEACH'S CLASSY ENTRIES—Joy Pray and Edith Dover of the Winchester S. C. and Carolyn Curley, daughter of John Curley, graduate manager of athletics at B. C., will be the girls to watch in the big swimming program at Carson Beach, South Boston.

Pauline Betz Is Tennis Favorite

By JOHN AHERN

Postponed for a day because of the torrential rains that inundated the courts, the semi-final round of the Women's Invitation tournament will be held this afternoon at the Longwood Cricket Club.

In the first playoff Pauline Betz of Los Angeles will tackle her fellow townslady, Mary Arnold, who upset all predictions by taking Margaret Osborne in the quarter final round. Then in the second half of the program Louise Brough, seeded number two nationally, meets Dodo Bundy, another of the big ten and daughter of two of tennis' famous names—Tom and May Sutton Bundy.

From the start it appeared as though the entire play was lined up purposely to bring "Queen" Pauline and Louise Brough together in what would be a sure preview of the coming nationals at Forest Hills and for that matter a replay of the same tourney in '42 and '43 when the two met for the coveted title. Now any one of the four can blast through and win the cup.

PAULINE BETZ
Stops for One That Refreshes

MISS BETZ LOOKS GREAT

Betz is favored because of the easy manner in which she dispatched Gilda Ciccone and Helen Pedersen Rihbany. She was every inch the queen as she outserved and outdrove and outfoxed the opposition and in comparison the others suffered. Her service is dynamite. Her forehand drops in there, just out of reach and fails to take that little hop that would keep the ball in play. She can pass with her backhand or chop it in close to the net so it stops dead. In other words she just breaks her opponent's heart.

Brough didn't pick up her number two rating just by standing deep in the back court. She has a cannonball service that zooms through for an ace before the opposition can move. Her backhand isn't the steadiest thing on earth but her forehand drives make up for that fault and she stays in there pitching every second.

WATCH DODO BUNDY

Then there is Dodo Bundy whose ability is inborn. She stayed out of the game last year and it was generally thought that the layoff would do her no good. But once she settled down the other day she ran Doris Hart, seeded higher and supposedly better, ragged with her careful placements. She also annexed the clay court title this year which shows that a rest didn't hurt.

The last of the quartet is Mary Arnold. She has yet to take a tourney this season and that's the dangerous point. The three major tourneys have produced three different winners and this might be her turn. She is thoroughly skilled in court cuteness and up around that net she's bad business and to jumble the picture more it would be nice to have a fourth winner in the troupe and make the Nationals a wide open affair.

But despite all this it's hard to see anybody beating Betz either at Brookline or Forest Hills. Other champions such as Wills, Jacobs and Marble ruled with ease taking every tourney on the nationwide tours. Although Betz has had none of the soft touches that characterize the championship, she's at her best for the Nationals. No better proof of this than Louise Brough.

For three years Miss Brough has been boomed as the next title holder. But once on the turf at Forest Hills Betz reaches the heights and Miss Brough is satisfied with retaining her number two rating.

There's no reason to believe it will be any different this time. Brough is playing the best tennis of her career, but Betz is more determined than ever to win. She'll have her hands full today and if she gets by it will be that much tougher tomorrow but win or lose, she's the sure bet in the Nationals.

Byron Nelson Makes It; McSpaden Out

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Tournament favorite Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., moved into the semi-finals of the 1944 national P. G. A. golf championship with a 4 and 3 win over Willie Goggin, White Plains, N. Y., in the 36-hole quarter-finals yesterday.
